

Robert J. Carragher

Senior Advisor, State Affairs

Society for Human Resource Management

As SHRM's Senior State Affairs Advisor since May of 2006, Bob has been responsible for coordinating SHRM's member advocacy and state legislative affairs operations. A seasoned government relations professional with over 25 years experience in both the public and private sectors, Carragher began his career as a personal staff member to U.S. Senator Sam Nunn (D-GA). He later served as a legislative liaison for a national labor law firm representing clients before Congress and the Executive Branch.

He has also managed the government relations and member advocacy programs of two business trade associations representing the automotive aftermarket and the steel service center industries. In addition, he has represented various other trade associations and Fortune 500 companies in Washington on a range of issues, including labor law developments and tax and international trade matters.

Carragher is a graduate of the University of Rochester in Upstate New York with a BA in American History.
